Art Unit: 3753

This action is responsive to the communication filed January 12, 2004.

Claim 12 is withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 C.F.R. § 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected species, the requirement having been traversed in Paper No. 7. While applicant has listed claim 12 as reading on the elected species, as far as the response can be understood, there is no disclosure of the valve members being welded to the rod with respect to elected Figure 3.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(b) as being anticipated by Williams. Williams shows a valve where the resilient head 19 is deformed as it is being forced past the seat 18 and then returns to its outset condition. Williams includes a rod 24 which extends to be used with a fill chuck, which is the actuator.

Applicant's remarks have been fully considered but are not deemed to be persuasive. Williams' valve is actuated by "a conventional inflating coupling", see column 2, lines 42-46. The claim does not positively recite an actuator, merely that the rod extends to one.

Claims 1-4, 6 and 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(b) as being anticipated by Broecker. Broecker shows another valve where the valve head 19 is forced through the 15 by deformation of the valve, and includes a chamfered surface on the valve and the seat. Broecker also is actuated. As to claim 14, the substance of the claim merely relates to intended use and is given no weight.

Applicant's remarks have been fully considered but are not deemed to be persuasive. See the remarks above.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103 which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) or (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over Broecker. The use of plastic to make the stem of Broecker is considered to be an obvious matter of design in view of the well known use of plastic structural mechanical elements.

Claims 5 and 7-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 17-18 are allowable over the prior art of record.

Applicant's representatives are requested to try to avoid submitting duplicate claims in response to this Office Action.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See M.P.E.P. § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 C.F.R. § 1.136(a).
